The background features a large, faded seal of the Auditor's Office. The seal is circular with a rope-like border. At the top, a banner contains the word "AUDITOR". Below it, a smaller banner contains the year "1896". The central part of the seal depicts a figure, possibly a personification of justice or a historical figure, holding a scale and a sword. The words "SALUBRITY" and "QUALITY" are visible on the left and right sides of the seal, respectively. Two stars are positioned on the left and right sides of the seal.
