ORGANIZATION OVERVIEW (which could include mission, history, and demographics served):

The Disability Law Center ("DLC") is part of a nationwide network of protection and advocacy systems that are mandated by the federal government to provide legal representation on behalf of people with disabilities in the state of Utah. The DLC has served as the federally designated Protection and Advocacy agency for Utahns with disabilities for 40 years. The mission of the DLC is to enforce and strengthen laws that protect the opportunities, choices, and legal rights of people with disabilities in Utah. We accomplish this through direct advocacy and legal representation, information and referral, community outreach and education and training in self-advocacy. The DLC is unique in that no other agency or organization in the state provides services that equate to those provided by our agency. DLC services are free of charge and available to anyone who has a disability living in the state of Utah. The DLC works toward improving the lives of all Utahns with disabilities by creating systemic change in four core areas: (1) Ending abuse and neglect; (2) Increasing access to services; (3) Ending discrimination; and (4) Creating equal opportunities for employment.

This event will bring together public school teachers and administrators, social workers, juvenile justice practitioners, legal practitioners, lawmakers, and University of Utah students to learn about the over-criminalization of youth in public schools (particularly for students with disabilities), leading to what is commonly known as the School to Prison Pipeline. In particular, this symposium will educate attendees on the School to Prison Pipeline by tracking how students are initially referred to the juvenile justice system, and what happens to students once they are in the juvenile justice system.
